

George Hatke received his PhD in Near Eastern Studies at Princeton University in 2012. He is currently a senior lecturer in Ancient South Arabian Studies at the University of Vienna where he teaches Epigraphic South Arabian and the history of South Arabia, in addition to Gəʿəz, Ugaritic, Maltese, and Arabic Epigraphy. Since 2015 he has been involved with the project to digitize the squeezes of South Arabian inscriptions kept at the Austrian Academy of Sciences. His research interests include pre-Islamic South Arabia, ancient and medieval Ethiopia, and comparative Semitic languages.
