

Ronald Ruzicka graduated as Doctor of Technical Mathematics from the University of Vienna in 1987, after which he founded Simutech Inc., a company which develops software for environmental technology and simulation software. After studying at the Language Center of the University of Vienna and Arabic-studies at the Bourgiba-Institute in Tunisia, he began his undergraduate degree in Near Eastern Studies (Arabic and ancient Semitic languages) at the University of Vienna in 2010. After graduation, he began the Master's program in Arabic Studies, with a focus on Ancient South Arabian languages, graduating in 2016. He is currently pursuing a doctoral study in Arabic Studies.